Awakening the Mystical Vis

1.1 An Unexpected Encounter with Ancient Power

Dust hung in the air like a forgotten memory, each inhalation countless years that had quietly slipped away in this neglected library. Towering shelves stood as ancient sentinels, their surfaces draped in a delicate veil of neglect. This sanctuary felt suspended in time, a sought refuge among the crumbling pages of books that murmured of bygone worlds. Yet today, an unusual energy crackled through the air, pulling me to venture deeper into the shadows.

As I meandered through the narrow aisles, my fingers brushed against the spines of leather-bound tomes, their titles faded and obscured by the passage of time. The aroma of aged paper enveloped me, whisking me away to a world of pure imagination. However, it was not the tales within these volumes that captured my attention; rather, it was a flicker of light peeking from behind the pages of encyclopedias that lured me closer.
